Everything But Arabs and Israel

Mr. Golda Meir yesterday conferred for more than an hour with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Later, the Israeli Foreign Minister reported "a very pleasant conversation" with the chief of the U.N. office in the world — and about the Arabs and Israel's permanent U.N. delegate, Dr. Michael Comog, who had arrived here. He said it covered "general problems and the Middle East."

On her way in, Mrs. Meir was welcomed, she was being done to get freedom of passage in the Suez Canal for Israeli shipping and she said: "That's what I'm going to

Mrs. Meir indicated that Israel would decide before the next General Assembly whether to raise the issue, whether to raise in the U.N. the questions of the Arab boycott and the U.A.R. interference with Israeli cargoes in the Canal.

Mrs. Meir was in New York City from day one. She is spending a month in the U.A. in connection with the Israel Bond Drive.

Mrs. Reid Discuss Israel's Progress

Mr. Reid said he was spending a week or 10 days in the country for personal reasons. His mother-in-law had had a cancer operation and his son wanted to see a baseball game.

"It is simply a personal trip and I took the opportunity to see the President and to hold some talks at the State Department," he said.

SYRIANS DIVERT CHAMBER GROUND

KIRYAT SHMONA. — Renewed diversion by Syrians of the Dufaila springs in Upper Galilee has caused a serious situation in the fields and fruit orchards of Kibbutz Shamir during the past two days.

Shamir's sole supply of water comes from the springs, located 200 metres inside Israeli territory and a kilometre and-a-half south-east of the settlement. The source of the springs is in the Syrian hills.

The continuous hot weather is worsening the situation.

VISITORS' GALLERY: Dr. Maung Maung

Young Burman's Distinguished Career in Law and Journalism

By MACABEE DEAN

The publication of "The Ugly American" threw a critical light on the sometimes inept approach of American representatives abroad to the culture, customs, and political problems of the countries in which they are stationed. In the wake of this book, scores of representative foreign citizens were invited to the U.S. to lecture on their countries.

These include Dr. Maung Maung, a 36-year-old Burmese lawyer and journalist, now winding up a one-week visit to Israel. He has been invited to lecture at Yale on Burma and is taking his wife and six children — aged from a few months to 11 years — with him.

He is considered an outstanding example of his country's rising young leaders. Mr. Maung Maung, former Ambassador to Burma, was invited to a lecture at the Hebrew Club in Jerusalem this week as a man who has had a brilliant career in law, a man destined to go on to greater things.

As a young man, he quit Rangoon University to go into the jungle to join the guerrilla forces fighting the Japanese. After the war, he went to Britain to study at the London School of Economics, going to Utrecht, Holland, to obtain his doctorate in international law.

Returning to Rangoon, he helped found and edit a monthly, "The Guardian," and later a daily of the same name. Both wield considerable influence among the country's intellectuals. Both are published in English. Rangoon, incidentally has four English-language dailies and 30 Burmese dailies.

Language Change

He is equally at home in English or Burmese. He often begins arguing a case in court in Burmese, and gradually, like the other advocates and judges, switches to English. "English is the language of the educated class," he says. "Part of this is due to the fact that the English left a rich cultural heritage behind; part is due to snobbery, for those who speak English are considered intellectuals."

Dr. Maung Maung estimates that at least 20 years before Burmese supplants English as the language of education. Rangoon University is to start teaching in Burmese this autumn.

He sees Burma as facing two main problems: primarily, the people must be educated; and secondly, the country's political leaders must understand the living essence of democracy, not just to mutter a few platitudes; and secondly, the country's political leaders must understand the living essence of democracy, not just to mutter a few platitudes; and secondly, the country's political leaders must understand the living essence of democracy, not just to mutter a few platitudes.

When General Ne Win was entrusted with establishing a caretaker Government in October, 1958, Dr. Maung Maung became the Assistant Attorney-General. A tremendous admirer of the General (who visited Israel last year), Dr. Maung Maung feels that Ne Win's voluntary surrender of power after 18 months is a "truly rare occurrence in the annals of political history."

Efficient Ruler

"It is extremely doubtful whether the Burmese political leaders will ever again turn the country over to a general — because he ran the country so efficiently that he frightened the politicians with the realization of how dispensable they were."

His future plans — are twofold: first, to continue teaching at Rangoon University where he is Professor of Law, and where his classes are attended by many non-law students interested in grasping the principles of democracy; and secondly, he wants to continue to write books (he has already written two) on Burma.

"The Burmese don't write much about themselves," he explains. "They lack the Israeli approach. Much of our ancient culture, as well as our contemporary history, is being neglected. I would like to remedy this."

The Burmese Ambassador, U. Hla Maung, gave a cocktail party at his home in Ramat Gan yesterday, in honor of Dr. Maung Maung and his wife, Win. Director of the Engineering Department of the Burmese Ministry of Defense, U. Hla Maung, was also present. The guests were senior officials of the Ministry of Defense, U. Hla Maung, was also present. ## ARCHBISHOP HAKIM REBUTS KOUSSA

NAZARETH. — Archbishop George Hakim, the head of the Greek Orthodox community, this week called upon the country's Arabs to consider carefully whether they want Mr. Elias Koussa, a Haifa attorney, to represent them before the authorities.

Archbishop Hakim was replying to an attack on him in the "Arab Voice," a Haifa publication, in which Koussa attacks the Ministry of Planning's policy regarding the Arab population. (Times) (Lender — Page 1)

Merchant Fleet Of 1m. Tons by 1970

NEW YORK (AP). — Israel's rapidly expanding merchant marine is expected to reach the one million mark by 1970. Dr. Naftali Wydra, Managing Director of the Zim Navigation Company, said here on Tuesday.

Announcing the Company's progress on its 15th anniversary, he said that 11 cargo ships and bulk carriers totaling 149,000 tons dead weight are to join Zim's fleet before the middle of next year. By 1962, Israel's merchant marine will consist of 650,000 tons.

Dr. Wydra told reporters that negotiations are under way for a $10m. shipyard, to be in service by 1962. Several months will be needed to complete final plans.

The new flagship will carry 1,000 passengers on its 15,000-ton liner, the smaller passenger vessel, a 6,000-ton one-class liner to be named Molelet, is now under construction in a French yard and will be ready next May. She will serve in the Mediterranean.

Dr. Wydra added that in July, Zim will begin a new weekly service from Israel to Mediterranean and Pacific Coast ports.

(On the occasion of Zim's 15th anniversary, The Jerusalem Post will publish an Israel Shipping Supplement to the regular week-end edition tomorrow.)

EXTINCT. — A fish netted by an African fisherman at Jinja, on the northern shore of Lake Victoria, was a Nile Perch, a type of fish which was believed to have died out in Lake Victoria millions of years ago, according to East African Fishery Research Organization experts.

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post June 9, 1960

In the Supreme Court Sitting as Court of Criminal Appeals

Before the President (Justice Olshan), Justices Gollin and Witkon.

The Attorney-General, Appellant, v. David Salah, 2 Ya'akov Robert Respondents (C.R.A. 1000).

No Suspended Sentence For Additional Offense. The Supreme Court allowed an appeal against a judgment of the Jerusalem District Court delivered on February 4, 1960 (in C.R. 76/58).

David Salah and Ya'akov Robert were found guilty of breaking-in and stealing a number of implements from their place of employment. The implements were later returned to the owner. At the time the offense was committed the two accused were still subject to suspended sentences of one month and two weeks respectively.

The Jerusalem District Court sentenced them to serve their suspended sentences and sentenced them to fines of IL180 and IL105 respectively plus suspended sentences of two years and eighteen months respectively, for the housebreaking offense.

The Attorney General appealed against the sentences, his representative arguing that in accordance with section 18 (c) of the Penal Law Revision (Modes of Punishment) Law, 1954, a court is not entitled to serve a suspended sentence for an offense which is committed during the period in which a previous suspended sentence is still in force if the perpetration of this latter offense would cause the suspended sentence to be enforced.

The court held that the suspended sentence should be enforced. The court held that the suspended sentence should be enforced. The court held that the suspended sentence should be enforced.

Underwater Team To Explore Old Caesarea

Jerusalem Post Reporter

HAIFA. — The underwater research vessel, Sea Diver, is due to arrive here next week to carry out a study of the ancient port of Caesarea.

The 77-meter-long vessel, built in the U.S. last year at a cost of $300,000, is carrying a crew of 12, including divers, and modern research equipment.

The administrative office of the expedition, Mr. Israel Beckwith, said here that the expedition hopes to find "the sunken wrecks, ships and ancient cargoes at Caesarea. The port was built 2,000 years ago by Herod in honor of the Emperor Augustus."

The owner of the Sea Diver and leader of the expedition is Mr. Edwin A. Link, the 54-year-old American engineer who developed the "Link Trainer" simulator cockpit for training fighter pilots on the ground. Before sailing for Israel, the ship made a test run to Port Royal in Jamaica, where it was heavily damaged during an earthquake in 1962.

TEL AVIV. — A big drive to export vegetables to Europe — mainly selected winter and spring crops — was announced here on Wednesday by Mr.

Trial consignments shipped to Europe last winter proved successful and had led to substantially increased orders this year.
